To Whom It May Concern,

Steve Eng's Enviro-Energy Technologies Inc designed and installed a 1.3 Kwh grid tied solar energy system for our rural home in 2006. Our panels are pole mounted about 250 feet from the house. His company was recommended to us by a large alternate energy company. With Steve's knowledge and clear communications there were no surprises including costs, components, installation and performance. One very helpful thing that Steve offers is an energy audit that I found to be an eye-opener. Other than tilting the array a few times a year, there is no maintenance. Steve has been available at any time to answer my questions and to give advice.

I recommend Enviro-Energy Technologies Inc without reservation and I will use them again when we expand our system. If someone wants a solar energy system that is robust, well designed and performs as expected then Steve is definitely the person to contact.
